Step by Step Instructions

Step 1

Trim a piece of watercolour card to a 15cm square and place onto a stamp press or a stamping platform. Remove the white backing paper from the stamp and position on the left-hand side of the cardstock in the positioner.

Step 2

Ink the stamp using Hickory Smoke Distress Oxide Ink.

Step 3

Spritz the cardstock in the stamp positioner with water. Spritz the inked stamp with water and stamp onto the wet cardstock.

Step 6

Repeat these steps several more times until you are happy with your background.

Step 4

Move the card slightly to one side and spritz the stamp again, without reinking it. Stamp again onto the cardstock. Dry the stamped images with a Craft Heat tool and replace in the stamp positioner in its original position.

Step 5

Reink the stamp and stamp over the top of the original rather blurred image. Move the card stock again, spritz the stamp without reinking it and stamp again.

Step 7

Make sure that your background is completely dry and then place it back onto the stamp press. Ink the stamp with Black Soot Distress Oxide Ink and stamp onto the right hand side of the card. Cover image with clear embossing powder and heat with a craft heat tool.

Step 8

Blend around the edge of the panel with Hickory Smoke Distress Oxide Ink.

Step 9

Attach 3 pieces of ribbon to the lower part of the card. Use double sided sticky tape on the rear of the cardstock to keep the ribbon in place. Attach each layer with double sided sticky tape one at a time.

Step 10

Layer the finished panel on to black cardstock and then silver cardstock before mounting on to a large square card.

Step 11

Stick 3 Finishing Touches Small Circle Dazzlers to the top right hand side of the card.

Step 12

Tie a small bow to the narrowest of the three ribbons attached to the bottom of the card.
